District of Corruption is back! After 2 year hiatus we are older, bolder, and wiser. We are returning to our roots with modern purist techno designed for the main room. Aaron Hedges, DoC label boss, has been busy with his house label, Geno Records, and has numerous releases and remixes forthcoming on Geno, Teenage Riot, Igloo, and Congaloid. Aaron has been hiding out in the studio and it has started to pay off, along with an album project in the works.

The title track, Drowning in Excuses, is a dark and pushing journey into the areas of the soul one tries hard to suppress. Analog percussion and industrial fx only set the growing framework into a haunting melodic haze. Tim Xavier, a world reknowned techno legend in his own right, lends a tougher remix treatment to “Drowning...” Tim's remix brings quirky organic percussion rhythms and tough as nails sub bass to the original meloncholy melodies. “Coming up for Air” is a slightly deeper techno journey. Pumping bass and stripped atmospheric melodies and sugar coated by dub percussion, detroit inspired chords, and self played bongos.
